

Science

An exemplary science student:

- achieves a high level of proficiency in science outcomes and skills.
- engages in the class and is curious about what they are learning.
- values collaboration and enhances the learning environment.
- demonstrates independence, responsibility and resiliency.