

World Languages

An exemplary world languages student:

- demonstrates a high level of proficiency in language concepts and skills.
- takes control of their own learning and is dedicated to steady growth.
- listens with the intent to understand.
- moves easily from structured conversation into spontaneous exchanges.
- seizes the opportunity and takes the risk to communicate outside of the classroom.
- learns from feedback and uses it to improve their understanding.
- demonstrates awareness and interest in the culture.